Eric Binard

Software Architect at CIVADIS

Namur Metropolitan Area

Summary

I've always been passionate by computers.

When I've finished my bachelor, I was sure that I've made the right choice.

In my career, I've been working with so many inspiring people as other developers, architects and functional analysts. All these collaborations built my technicals and human skills.

Finally, my main goal in programming is to build maintainable, robust, flexible and automatically tested softwares .
